

Intelligence Analyst

Description

Analyze high-priority homeland security intelligence threats. Search specific study topics, develop a work plan, conduct research, and write studies IAW intelligence community (IC) analytic tradecraft standards. Leverage existing databases and enhance analytic output using technology. Conduct bulk data analysis via queries and applications to manage large data sets. Coordinate with IC and departmental counterparts.

Qualifications

Basic Qualifications: Minimum of 4 years of experience with military and DNI agencies, 3 years of experience with performing intelligence analysis on a wide range of threats, to include OEF/OIF, and 5 years of experience with writing analytic products in accordance with the Office of Intelligence Analysis (OIA) IC analytic tradecraft standards, and 5 years of experience with using databases, modeling, data mining, and visualizations-Active TS/SCI clearance-BA or BS degree

Clearance:

Applicants selected will be subject to a security investigation and may need to meet eligibility requirements for access to classified information; TS/SCI clearance is required.

Integrating the full range of consulting capabilities, SESLLC helps clients solve their toughest problems, working together to achieve their missions.